Re: World Quality Center for Naval Ships in Ukraine: Call for Partners

Dear All,

Fermata Arts Foundation, a non-profit organization, presents countries of the post-soviet space. Countries of the post-soviet space received their independence in 1991. Independence for what? To obtain well-developed and ready to use tools for being integrated into the capitalist world, to realize potentials of their economies and to depart from the myth “a country as a repository of traditions”. Another direction is: by executing “mythical” projects of the soviet empire these countries received a large number of project ambiguities, global in their nature [Cosmodrome in Kazakhstan, Electrotechnical Plant "WEF" in Latvia, and a network of military-industrial complexes for production of different type of weapons for military]. The lack of demands during last twenty years due to the conditions of incompetence of the leaders of these countries in regards to the question how to embed this “heritage” in the chain of strategic directions for the development of their country led/ leads these countries into conditions “being ecologically unsafe”.

A presidential structure in the country is active by its nature. It has a multi-century development of its evolvement in the USA and is adequate to address processes described above and to build conditions of the modern society in any country. A format for the leadership in building a presidential country carries a large increase in the number of millionaires in the country. Stepan Razin entered the world arena as a representative of military institutions in Russia (Cossacks). Stepan Razin made a statement about bureaucracy and the values of this bureaucracy for Russia. He claimed a need to discuss this question, because bureaucracy is a driving force for Russian social development. The Russian nobility, the writers from the nobility described specific personages from bureaucracy in their works. The fact that it took place is described in the book “Leo Tolstoy and Russian journalism of his era” written by E. G. Babaev.

The intriguers from the Russian nobility in the Tsar's court organized a quick overturn in Russia in 1917. The events described in the book “Ten Days That Shook the World” written by J. Reed affirmed that the take-over took place.

By 1991 the soviet empire has been formed. In 1991 Mr. Yeltsin declared himself the President of this empire. By this time bureaucracy in Russia gained strength for a process of transformation. In 1991 a multiplicative process of the soviet empire led to the splintering it into many countries. Russian bureaucracy made a decision to refresh its activities through the elements of national identity. Twenty years of their existence are delineated in the report “Twenty Years of Split Unity: expeditionary notes”¹. Therefore Russia stated its readiness to present/ develop conditions of the bureaucracy through collaborative projects in these countries. Mr. Putin, a leader of Russia, in 2008 stated that the countries of the post-soviet space are ready for this process, by making military invasion of Georgia. In 2014 a similar reminder took place through invasion of Ukraine and is active until present time.

Fermata Arts Foundation is proposing a World Quality Center for Naval Ships in Ukraine as a real project which will address a process of bureaucracy in the countries of the post-soviet space. The main objective of the project is lay the foundation of presenting American culture in Europe through establishing a World Quality Center for Naval Ships in Ukraine. Evolving the World Quality Center has been supported by Congresswoman E. Esty through her letter of support to Fermata Arts Foundation [SCHWIPAR Centre for Innovational Development²] (see Attachment 1). US military veterans and formation of the second breath for veterans through establishing job opportunities in accordance with education and specific activities of veterans is what will be achieved through this Center of Quality. This is one of the directions for practical concepts developed in this project. Overall this US project will blockade any type of processes for involvement of bureaucracy, in principle. Ukraine and the countries of the post-soviet space through legal process opportunities will form the real legislative power in order to eliminate bureaucracy in these countries.

As the e-newsletter from Congresswoman E. Esty stated, an estimated twenty-two veterans commit suicide each day³. President Obama supported Senator R. Blumenthal [change priorities in spending of taxpayer's money in a new economy] and signed the Clay Hunt Suicide Prevention for American Veterans Act into law on February 12, 2015. Fermata Arts Foundation project “World Quality Center for Naval Ships in Ukraine” will allow to develop this act to the conditions of functional roles of super-professionals who formed their skills during military service.

Please add your voice by sharing your story or providing financial support for this project. Your active reapplication will accelerate/ stabilize harmonic conditions of the transition of military veterans from institutions of servicing global community into constructive institutions of production of goods and services/ inspections of the world fleet, preserving “being safe” in a global community.

Fermata Arts Foundation approached ambassadorial institutions of Russian Federation in Washington DC with a request for a meeting with Ambassador Sergey I. Kislyak as a development phase for a meeting with Mr. Putin in order to confirm that Putin's actions are the actions of the individual, in their nature. They are formed by the nobility of the tsar's clan which still exists today in Russia, and are not supported by the people of Russia.

Fermata Arts Foundation is preparing materials for a presentation on these meetings using reports of the Russian Federation experts on demographic crisis in Russian Federation in 2016. The initial phase for resolving this crisis is to bring a legal action against Mr. Putin.

Fermata Arts Foundation made a statement through United Nations institutions in regards to the "Demographic crises in Russian Federation in 2016".

Dear Ms. Ishutkina,

Thank you for contacting me regarding your efforts to establish the World Quality Center for Naval Ships in Ukraine. I understand that your goal is to reinvigorate the Ukrainian ship-building industry with the support and guidance of American military veterans.

I share your concern over the current state of the Ukrainian economy and military. I believe that the United States should work with our allies in Europe to help stabilize Ukraine and dissuade those who seek to undermine Ukraine's sovereignty and territorial integrity. I have already taken several steps to support Ukraine as it struggles in the face of continuing Russian aggression.

I also share your support for programs that provide employment and job training services for American veterans. The brave men and women who serve our country in uniform have valuable skills that would benefit any employer. We owe it to our veterans to help connect them with opportunities that provide for a meaningful career following their service to our country.

Thank you again for contacting me with your proposal to establish the World Quality Center for Naval Ships in Ukraine. Please do not hesitate to contact me regarding this or any other issue in the future.

Sincerely,

Elizabeth H. Esty
Member of Congress
